

An Australian Government Initiative

To empower people to take control of their own health and wellbeing

1.1

Support primary health care teams to empower Northern Territorians with complex and chronic conditions to be active participants in their care.

1.2

Encourage the adoption of self-management tools through primary health care teams.

1.3

Support the uptake of preventative health activities through primary health care providers.

Address health equity by identifying those with the greatest health needs and improving access to primary health care

2.1

Undertake a comprehensive health care needs assessment for the NT.

2.2

Address service gaps and fragmentation by co-designing, co-commissioning and commissioning services that meet the needs arising from the health care needs assessment.

2.3

Commission primary health care providers that provide culturally safe care.

2.4

Collaborate with research partners to improve our understanding of NT health care needs.

2.5

Develop partnerships with relevant stakeholders outside of the health system to address social determinants of health.

Enable providers to deliver quality primary health care

3.1

Support the use of data to drive service improvement.

3.2

Drive accountability by delivering transparent commissioning policies, processes and methods for the monitoring and evaluation of commissioned services.

3.3

Support the primary health care workforce to adapt and embrace innovation and technology in the provision of health care.

3.4

Collaborative workforce planning and service design to inform the right workforce mix for the populations needs.

3.5

Work with primary health care providers to attract and retain their workforce, especially increasing Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander participation in primary health care delivery.

3.6

Support the development of NT pathways for future workforce from selection, employment to retention across all primary health care professions.

Lead primary health care system integration through effective partnerships

4.1

Collaborate with our stakeholders to develop a shared vision and plan for comprehensive primary health care in the Northern Territory.

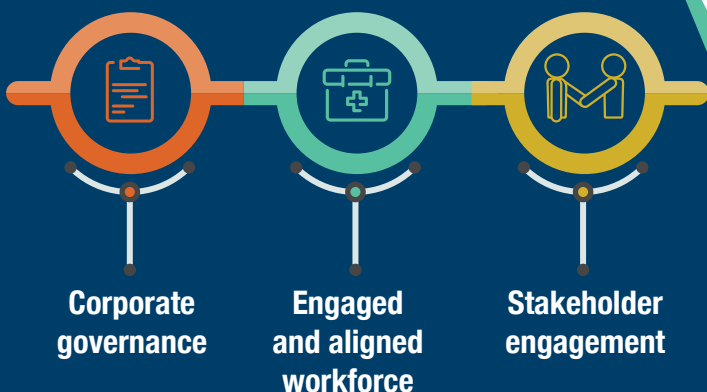

4.2

Co-invest in shared health information and establish shared quality improvement initiatives with key stakeholders.

4.3

Improve health care pathways for Northern Territorians by working in close partnership with our stakeholders.

Enablers

Our vision

People in the NT enjoy their best health and wellbeing.

Our purpose

We build local partnerships and direct resources based on need, towards an integrated high quality primary health care system.
